The "Mail Messenger Service" was let this week at Ashland to Captain Jack Kounts at $225 a year. The present contractor, who ought to know what the job's worth—bid nearly twice that amount! We remember a chap who undertook the experienced contractor in Mayville a few years ago and who wanted to throw up the job at the end of the first day, but he had to wrestle with the job and the power for thirty days, and his fees for delinquencies ate up nearly all that was coming to him at the end of that time.

ATTEMPTED LIFT DELIVERY.
The Work Was Discarded in Time to Prevent Escape.

They didn't get there!
But it wasn't their fault!

Between Saturday midnight and daylight of Sunday morning there was some good work done by a lot of occupants of the lower floor of Jaller Johnson's jug.

Those who had the charge of this floor were "Red" Costello, ranged with shooting; William Son, under sentence of two years for housebreaking; "Sheep" Lewis and Morris Lewis, adultery; Bill Clark and Bill Rake, grand larceny; Walter Skinner and Shelby Setters, having burglar tools in their possession.

It is not thought that anything like the whole number of the foregoing had a hand in the work, but those who did engaged had "been there before."

The tools used were a calker's chisel, a stone about the size of a man's fist, and a bar of iron nearly three inches wide, half inch thick and nearly four feet long.

How these tools got into the jail is now the subject of investigation.

Yesterday Jaller Johnson "got onto" the scheme.

And examination disclosed the fact that considerable headway had been made toward cutting out one of the narrow gratings that are in the stone floor of the corridor, and which serve as ventilators for the cells.

If it had been once removed access to the collar was assured, and thence to the open air was an easy matter.

The "work" had been carefully covered by a blanket, in hopes that it would not be discovered, and if it had not been the tollers would undoubtedly have completed the job last night.

Constable Coughlin found the large iron bar concealed beneath one of the rafters in the hall, while the chief and stoos were found in another part of the building.

An inventory of the personality of the late Benjamin T. Stevenson shows a value of $270.

Xmas presents. See Chenoweth's stock. They are "useful as well as ornamental."

Mr. R. W. Mathews, a traveling man well known in this city, was stricken with paralysis Thursday at Owingsville.

Masonic Notice.
The annual election of officers will be held at a stated meeting of Mason Lodge, F. and A. M., this evening at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

JOHN W. BOULDEN, W. M.
R. P. JENKINS, Secretary.

GETS TWO YEARS.
Henrietta McDaniel of This City Sentenced to the Pen.

Henrietta McDaniel is in serious trouble again.

Her mother was one of Uncle Sam's pensioners, who died about a year since. After her death Henrietta held hold of the pension certificate of $300 month.

And kept right on drawing the money. To do this she of course had to commit the double crime of forgery and perjury.

The authorities caught on, and Henrietta was tried in the Federal Court at Covington.

Receiving a sentence of two years in the Penitentiary.

This is her second trip to that institution, she having been sent up some years ago for killing a circus man at her house in the Fifth Ward, but she was pardoned because it was said she was dying of consumption.

"THERE'S MILLIONS IN IT!"
Legislature a Tie—Who Will Be the Favorite to Top?

In the special election Saturday in the Fourth Louisville District, Hon. A. J. Carroll, Democrat, was elected to the Legislature by a majority of 432 over Charles A. Blatz, Republican.

The Republicans had to contend against a strong sentiment that had sprung up in Mr. Carroll's favor on account of his many course in rebutting his claims to the voters of the District, when he might have held the office.

Even the Republican papers, while opposing Mr. Carroll in the race, commended his almost unprecedented action and sense of honesty.

His managers made capital out of this, and stirred up a sympathy among the better class that made him practically invincible.

But for this he could never have won. It is believed many Republicans voted for him on this account.

The election of Mr. Carroll makes the Legislature a tie on joint ballot.

The Republicans will have sixty-eight votes and the Democrats sixty-eight.

There are besides these two Populists, Horace J. Poore of Pendleton county, who is counted on by the Republicans, and W. J. Eddington of Callaway county, who will probably vote with the Democrats.

This will make the vote sixty-nine each on joint ballot.

A deadlock will exist unless at least one of the contesting Republicans surrenders his Democratic opponent.

Congressman McCreary's friends are greatly excited, asserting that he has the pledge of one of the Populists.

But even the Blackbourn men are excited, so the Senatorial situation is in a more doubtful than it ever was.

Mr. L. Ed. Pearce, formerly of this city, is spoken of for appointment as City Auditor by Mayor Sinsal of Lexington.

By the bursting of an arch-pipe on a C. and O. engine at Foster Saturday Charles Tatum, brakeman, was seriously scalded and C. K. James, fireman, slightly injured.

The gross earnings of the L. and N. for the fourth week in November were $538,015, an increase of $4,771 over 1894, of $31,108 over 1893, but still $46,769 short of 1892, the last Republican year.

In September, 1892, Joseph Hartwell Cabell, one of the brightest young lawyers of Cincinnati, and Miss Florence Swing, the accomplished daughter of Judge Peter F. Swing of the same city, came to Mayville and married; and now Mrs. Cabell is seeking a divorce in the Cincinnati court.

A dispatch from Cincinnati says James G. Wall, brother of Mr. R. M. Wall and cousin of E. Berry Wall the ex-prince of New York swindle, received a fall last Wednesday on the street. At a consultation held Saturday evening it was decided that his chance of recovery is slight. He has been the Clerk of Harrison county eight years.

TOLD BY BANKERS.
Stories That Prove That Banking Is Not Always Pleasant.

"Human race itself seems to have reached its limit of ingenuity," said J. G. Cannon, Vice-President of the Fourth National Bank, New York City. "I have not heard of any new methods of bank swindling for some time. The same old games of raised checks, signing the names of cashiers on the back of paper and similar devices of swindling are tried now as in years past. We have reduced this class of swindling to the minimum in New York by asking some very pointed questions and by insisting upon the identification of strangers. In the matter of forged notes the most knowledgeable paying-teller is sometimes outwitted in New York and other large cities, but very seldom. Taking into consideration the amount of money that in ordinary times of business passes over the counter in a New York bank in the course of a day, the amount of fraud committed in the course of a year is very small. The swindlers, such as the check raisers, etc., have of late been confining themselves largely to interior banks, but even with them of late they have been particularly unfortunate. Then, too, we have reduced the loss of money to a minimum as far as sneak thieves are concerned. You rarely hear nowadays of men walking into banks in the East and picking up a package of $10,000, $5,000 or $20,000 and then disappearing successfully. We now keep our banknotes behind iron gratings, where it is exceedingly difficult to 'graft' them, to use a slang expression among thieves. Another thing that has reduced the looting of banks to the minimum is the determined, swift and persistent manner in which the banking associations hunt down criminals. We spare neither time nor expense in hunting them down, and we are sworn when caught and convicted to make sure they are safely locked up. When released we see to it that their every movement is watched. Every foreign, check raiser and sneak thief known to the law is under continuous surveillance in all of our large cities, and, under the Bertillon system, if one of this class commits a crime elsewhere, he can be easily identified."

"None of us wish to go through with the experiences of 1893," said William Hackett, Cashier of the East National Bank of Easton, Pa., "and yet there are some reasons why the panic which we are not displeasing. I remember one bank which was obliged to close its doors, and which gave a very truthful explanation of the cause in a notice on the door reading as follows:

"The liabilities of this bank are $77,000. The assets of this bank are $57,000. The public owes the public $20,000. When the public will pay this bank we wish to make the distinct announcement that this bank is not busted; the public is busted."

"None of us wish to go through with the panic, and it sets out the exact situation which we must meet in formulating a new financial system for this country. We must have some play by which we can increase the volume of money on short notice to meet just such emergencies when people generally are taken with a notion to draw out their deposits and there is not enough currency in the country to pay them. We have got to have elasticity, and how we are going to get it, I don't yet see."

John Wanamaker Says:
"I do the heaviest advertising in long lines and in the world at the present time. One big danger is that the people look not keenly for bargains and are anxious to know what things cost, and where they can save money. I advertise particular things, give prices, and take as much pains with my announcements as I do with my stock. One big danger is that the people won't keep up the reputation of the big house—but steady, good cooking does it. I never permit interest in my announcements to lag, and never miss an issue in my chosen publications. Advertising has made my store one of the largest in the country."

The Blade says Moses Rice, a citizen of the world at all seasons times has represented nearly all the cigar makers in Cincinnati, laid a big board bill at Portsmouth and a cold draft for $40, which Levi cashed. He has the draft and Moses the money. The draft blew the light out and then Moses wasn't there.

When most needed it is not unusual for your family physician to be away from home. Such was the experience of Mr. J. Y. Schneck, Editor of The Caddo Ter., Banner, when his little girl, two years of age, was threatened with a severe attack of croup. He says: "My wife insisted that I go for the doctor, but as our family physician was out of town I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved her immediately. I will not be without it in the future." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

To all newly married or old married couples who will buy their furniture from us, we will give them two Solid Oak Rockers, and not charge them for rockers in their bill. Look Here! H. H. Hackett & Co., No. 294 South street.

A. H. Andrews & Co., the Chicago furniture manufacturers, make an assignment. Their assets are reported about $500,000 and liabilities about $400,000. This is the concern that put in the hands some fixtures for the Bank of Mayville some years ago.

Major C. T. Pickett is Manager of the State Hotel at Denison, Texas, which the traveling man says is one of the best hotels in that section. In speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Major Pickett says: "I have used my family in my family for several years, and take pleasure in saying that I consider it an infallible cure for diarrhea and dysentery. I always recommend it, and have frequently administered it to my guests in the hotel, and in every case it has proven itself worthy of unqualified endorsement." For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

At the Thanksgiving dinner at the Soldiers' Home, Dayton, O., there were consumed 5,000 pounds of turkey, 800 quarts of cranberries, 130 gallons of oysters, 1,250 pils, 900 pounds bread, 100 bushels potatoes, 500 dozen oranges, 250 bushels celery, 1,300 pounds sugar, 100 matons, 175 pounds butter, 750 gallons coffee besides other good things, like giblet sauce, cookies, raisins, etc.

Who does not know women and young girls who are continually in tears? Who always see the dark side? Who have frequent fits of melancholy and any apparent cause? The intelligent physician will know that it is some derangement of the complicated and delicate feminine organs. The system becomes bodily and mentally in silence. There is undue weariness, unexpected pain, unreasonable fears and fits of temper. Dr. Pierce's Female Prescription exerts a wonderful power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic and is specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of women. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for hysterical nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and so help can come till they are made perfectly strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

During the prevalence of a gripe those who made use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral found it prompt to set and sure to cure. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs, and the only remedy successful in consumption.

The first man who ever sung a Negro song on the stage was an actor named Herbert. He sat in a chair before the curtain. He painted his face with black paint, burnt cork being then unknown.
